About the programme

These programmes are designed to bring together team coaches and individual coaches from all over the world who would like to deepen their personal practice and explore the leading edge of practice and new developments in the profession. These programmes are especially for 'advanced practitioners' who feel they need to retreat and restore themselves and their practices.

Specifically designed for people who have ideally either completed the Certificate or Diploma in Systemic Team Coaching and/or have been practicing as team coaches post qualification for at least five years.

The programmes take place at Barrow Castle www.barrowcastle.co.uk, on the edge of Bath, set amid a 37-acre estate, complete with well tended gardens, walled garden, swimming pool, jacuzzi, woodlands and beautiful walks straight from the castle.

What you will learn

- Time for supervision of practice
- A talk/workshop each day by Peter Hawkins on new developments and ways of resourcing yourself in the work
- Personal restorative practices, including meditation, mindfulness, Tai Chi, walks, swimming, hot tub etc.
- Individuals sharing their latest developments
- Exploration of ways of deepening one's practice and increasing one's impact.

Program Details

The course is limited to 18 participants, on a first come first served basis with places secured by full payment in advance. A list of a range of local places to stay will be sent on acceptance of your application.
